Notable features:

A varied and visually entertaining terrace set back from the street with yards in front. Condition is good, appearance blighted only by formstone on number 818. Numbers 826-830 have cast iron lintels, attic windows, above a moulding. Iron work fences and balcony on 828 enrich the group. Number 820 has mahogany doors and cast iron lintels with shell motif and a fine tree in its yard. Numbers 804, 810-812 and 814-816 have good-sized side yards. Notable features (continued):

neither on Sachse nor on the 1896 map, one suspects their additions just before the turn of the century. Numbers 806 and 814 have side-door entrances.

Environmental context:

Stately houses on both sides of street; set-backs on this side lend variety; Hollins is a quiet street and may become even more so when it dead-ends at Fremont Avenue in the next year or so. The truck yards at its rear and west do not enhance this fine group but they manage to hold their own anyway.
